The History of Bosque Farms

Our history begins in 1500 when the Tewa Indians lived in our valley. The earliest Spanish settlers arrived next, when Spanish colonists claimed the new world for Spain and were granted land. Dating from 1716, what is today Bosque Farms was part of a Spanish land grant originally known as Bosque De Los Pinos or Los Pinos. Don Solomon Luna had large land holdings in this area. When he died, his son, Don Edwardo Otero, used 28,000 acres for grazing cattle and farming.

The land changed hands numerous times before being purchased during the Great Depression by the New Mexico Rural Rehabilitation Corporation, in 1934, which in turn sold it to the federal Resettlement Administration in 1935. The RA renamed the land The Bosque Farms Project and turned it into an agricultural resettlement project for Dust Bowl refugees from northern New Mexico, Texas, and Oklahoma. The 28,000 acres were divided into 43 tracts 40 to 80 acres per tract. On May 2, 1935, a public drawing was held, and the tracts were sold to those lucky enough to have their names drawn. The land sold for $140 per acre, and the new residents had 40 years to pay for it. The new settlement became known as Bosque Farms. The Works Progress Administration (WPA) cleared the land and built homes for the new settlers. In 1939 the WPA built the original Bosque Farms school which is still in use today. At that time, it taught students in grades 1 - 8, and was the first school in the state to serve hot lunches. Dances, softball games and community dinners were popular.

However, due to poor soil conditions, traditional farming failed and many of the families that stayed turned to dairy farming. Dairy farming became the main agricultural industry and by the 1960s the area was referred to as the "Heart of the Rio Grande Dairy Land."

Over the ensuing 70 years, Bosque Farms has gradually become more residential, but still maintains a connection to its rural and farming legacy. There are still large tracks of alfalfa fields. In the past they provided forage for the dairy farms. Today, there is only one active dairy farm in Bosque Farms, and much of the alfalfa and the newer grass fields provide feed for the many horses that are part of the Bosque Farms environment. Bosque Farms was incorporated as a municipality in 1974 which enabled the community to elect its own governing body. Housing and commercial development is the primary source of revenues in the Village. However, the residents of Bosque Farms are proud of their agricultural heritage and the associated pastoral character.

History of the BF Fair

In 1936 the Bosque Farms Extension Club was organized with 100% of the membership being women who resided in Bosque Farms. In the summer of 1939, under the supervision of Crystal Carpenter, the Extension Club decided to sponsor a community get-together and picnic, which would become the Bosque Farms Community Fair. The motto for this first fair was "Bigger and Better." The refreshment stand was sponsored by the Extension Club and the proceeds were used as cash prizes for the children's races. The initial fair was limited to sewing, cooking exhibits, and a few 4-H events. As time went on, interest grew and exhibits such as canning and produce were introduced. The inside exhibits were housed in the newly built Bosque Farms School, while the school grounds were used for the outdoor events. Lunch was a "basket lunch" where every family brought their own food with the exception of a meat dish, which was provided by the fair. At noon the "basket lunch" food was spread out and everyone enjoyed a delightful lunch. The Fair was almost always topped off with a country dance. For the first few years the fair was held on Labor Day.

The Bosque Farms Community Fair Association was eventually founded and took over the task of planning and presenting the Fair. The Fair grew larger and became more popular with each passing year, truly making it "Bigger and Better". In 1949, livestock divisions were added to the Fair. As more and more outdoor events were added, the men of the community-built chutes and catch pens. In 1953, since the men were already doing the outside events for the Fair, they formed the Bosque Farms Rodeo Association and each year they collaborated with the Fair Board to put on the Fair.

By 1967, the Rodeo Association purchased property off the North Loop and built the arena and building, now known as Cowboy Hall. The Rodeo Association and the Fair Board agreed the Fair would be held at the rodeo grounds so the Fair Board donated monies toward the cement floor, water well, and patio roof (just to name a few) as a thank you to the Rodeo Association. New events were added in both the inside exhibits and the outside events and lunch changed to food vendors. A large percentage of the population of Bosque Farms has served either on the Fair Board and/or in the Rodeo Association.

We hope YOU come out to celebrate our parade, participate in the games, eat the food, watch the rodeo, browse the exhibits, and get involved in your community that is Bosque Farms.
